

INSIGHTS + NEWS

Matt Morris Writes “When “C” (Corp) Sounds Like “S” – Blurred Lines Between Choices of Entity Under the Nascent Trump Administration” for the Massachusetts Society of CPAs

BY BOWDITCH & DEWEY • FEBRUARY 27, 2017

The Massachusetts Society of CPAs (MSCPA) published an article by Matt Morris in its weekly “Friday @ Five” newsletter. Matt’s article focuses on proposed changes that the Trump administration may bring to corporate income tax rates. Such changes will carry implications for tax status selection by new and existing businesses.

You can read “When “C” \(Corp\) Sounds Like “S” – Blurred Lines Between Choices of Entity Under the Nascent Trump Administration” on the MSCPA website.