

INSIGHTS + NEWS

Matt Morris Writes “The Impact of the House Tax Cut Bill on CFOs” for CFO Magazine

BY BOWDITCH & DEWEY • NOVEMBER 7, 2017

CFO Magazine published the article “The Impact of the House Tax Cut Bill on CFOs” by Matthew Morris on November 7. The following is an excerpt from the article:

What do these proposed tax changes mean for CFOs? For CFOs of large multinational corporations with a C corporation parent in the United States, the changes mean that (a) more cash can be distributed in the form of dividends from overseas subsidiaries at a significantly lower corporate tax rate and (b) only the corporation’s U.S.-source income will be subject to income tax.

Continue reading “The Impact of the House Tax Cut Bill on CFOs” on the CFO Magazine website.