Amy Condon Speaks to Full House at Boston Chamber Paid Family Medical Leave Educational Session September 19

SEPTEMBER 19, 2019

It was a packed house as Amy Condon spoke along with Mike Doheny, Undersecretary of Labor and General Counsel for the Executive Office of Labor and Workforce Development, at the Greater Boston Chamber of Commerce's Paid Family Medical Leave (PFML) Educational Session at the Chamber offices on September 19.

Amy addressed possible pitfalls employers may face and answered common questions from clients, while Mike spoke about the changes to the PFML law over the last three months.

This program is particularly timely since the PFML law will go into effect October 1.
